ONE DOLLAR A YEAR

DISTRIBUTING DEPOT FOR "Pittsburgh Perfect" Fences

For some time we have been investigating a New Idea in Wire Fencing. After a most careful examination we have been convinced that we have found the best field fence manufactured. "Pittsburgh Perfect" is made of all galvanized steel wires. It is the only fence welded by electricity. Every rod is guaranteed perfect. All large wires, the stays being the same size as line wires. It has no wraps to hold moisture and cause rust.

If You Are Looking for a Fence

That will stand HARD USAGE;
That will not SAG DOWN or CURL OVER on the top;
That has stays that WILL NOT SLIP;
That CONFORMS TO UNEVEN GROUND;
That has no SLACK WIRES;
That does not require an EXPERT TO ERECT;
That is LOW IN PRICE.

Then Read What We Guarantee

1. The stays are ELECTRICALLY WELDED to strands, forming a perfect union and an amalgamation with the strands not found in any other fence.
2. No wraps to get loose, or hold moisture and cause rust.
3. No projections to injure stock or tear wool from sheep.
4. Stronger at the joints than any other fence; welded together by electricity.
5. Guaranteed that the wire is not injured at the joints.
6. Guaranteed adjustable to uneven ground.
7. Guaranteed link stays will not separate from strands.
8. Guaranteed all rights in every particular.
9. Made by the most modern process and on the latest improved machinery.
10. Most of the rust points in other fences are on account of the way the stays are fastened. Our stays are amalgamated with the strands by means of electricity and the strength of the fence increased a hundred fold over the strength of a fence where the stays are wrapped or clamped on like strands.

If by this time you are interested, come and see this fence and get in your order. If you are skeptical come and be convinced.

We add our personal guarantee to everything claimed for it and would be pleased to submit prices.

Don't fail to see us before buying your fencing. Don't put it off until you are ready to use it, but place your order in advance, as we cannot carry all sizes in stock.

The court sentences on the United States' labor leaders, of one year for Samuel Gompers, nine months for John Mitchell and six months for Frank Morrison, was reduced by the Supreme Court to thirty days for Gompers and only a $500 fine for Mitchell and Morrison. The Chief Justice dissenting, held that the entire judgment should be reversed. The original conviction against Gompers, for conspiracy to violate the Anti-Trust Act, was also reversed.

Mr. A. Ford, Secretary of the Young People's Missionary Volunteer Society, spent the week end at Leduc in the interests of the work of the Society.

George Brown left on the 18th for Calgary, where he will work during vacation.

Adolph Bernhard has already started in the colporteur work in the south.

William Vetter called at the office recently while on his way from Oronotown to Saskatoon.

Mr. J. K. Fish left yesterday for the southern part of the province, where he will engage in evangelistic work.

C. D. Smith, one of our colporters, left yesterday with his horse and buggy for the High River district. He expects to drive the whole distance.

A few of Mr. and Mrs. Jalmur Johnson's friends visited their home last week and enjoyed the privilege of listening to some classical music. Mrs. Johnson is now engaged in teaching this art, and judging from her own ability as a piano player, the pupils under her instruction should make good progress.

Word was received the other day from Pastor C. A. Burman, who recently arrived in Washington, D.C., that everything would be in readiness for the General Conference session to open on the 15th inst. Six hundred tents have been pitched to accommodate some of the many who are in attendance. On the 11th inst. two special trains containing delegates and visitors to the Conference arrived from California.

Last Sabbath, May 17th, the regular service was conducted by Mr. W. A. Clemensen, who gave an instructive address on the "Grace of God."

WITTENBURG

The Andrew's school opened on May 5th. Miss Sambrook is the teacher.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Walker Eastman, on May 6th, a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Cummings returned to the sawmill after visiting east of Lacombe.

Five loads of hogs were taken into Lacombe this week from around here, which shows that the farmers are raising the right kind of stuff.

Owing to the scarcity of men around here, Jack Rothman had to hire two girls to help him with his stump pulling operations, taking them up with his single driver last Saturday night.

The writer, looking over the work they had done, was surprised to see the amount of work accomplished. They have already cleared three sections of land, taking fence posts and C. P. R. land as it comes, and are likely to be in the harvest by now, as they were going north pretty fast when last seen.

Dear Jack, the writer will have left the country before you see this.

Quite a number attended church last Sunday, both morning and evening. Mr. Irwin, of Kinlay, was the preacher.

We have found out of late that some one is busy entering houses and taking whatever could be easily hauled in a wagon or carried away by hand. Would the party who helped himself to a quantity of goods not owned by him, but left by someone more respectable, who is the lower, kindly return same or at least keep them well preserved until the owner comes back again, which will be soon, you can depend.

LAKESIDE

Mr. and Mrs. Fife are here from Iowa visiting their daughter, Mrs. Partridge.

The Rev. Mr. Davis preached a very good sermon at Lakeside Sunday 11th. This was his first Sunday, and a large crowd turned out to hear him.

The showery weather does not seem to be hindering seeding about here. Most of the farmers are through seeding oats.

Children who amuse themselves by ringing up everyone on the telephone line are octainly a nuisance.

George Hutchinson is working for Mr. Paisley.

At the last meeting of the U. P. A., it was decided that the annual picnic will be held at Lakeside school grounds, and that seems to be the nearest central place. The picnic will take place June 3rd. There will be ball games, races, and other sports well worth seeing. There will probably be a stand where fruit, ice cream, etc., will be sold.

ECKVILLE NOTES

Mr. D. McNally has been assisting Mr. A. Palmer with the shingling of his blacksmith shop.

Liner Bros. have finished the work on the restaurant and it will be open for business in a few days.

Mr. A. Erickson will arrive in town on Monday, May 13th. A good business is assured for him, for the inquiries for a teacher have been frequent.

It is reported that the train which has been making one trip per week will hereafter make two trips. Many of the worst portions of the track have been ballasted and the trains will make faster time.

Mr. Jacob Clausen left for Leslieville last week, where he has the contract of building a store for Messrs. Forhan and Clausen.

Preparations are being made for a good celebration of Victoria Day. A program of baseball, football, races of all kinds, tug-of-war and dance will be carried out.

The death of Miss Agnes McFaul, youngest daughter of Mr. Thos. McFaul, of Leslieville, occurred at the residence of Mr. A. Mitzner on Thursday, May 16. Miss McFaul had been in failing health for two months and had started for Oregon, but she became much weaker after reaching Edville and was not able to proceed farther. The family have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

RAINY CREEK

Dr. McKenzie, of Red Deer, was called out to attend Mrs. Vere Miller, who was suffering with a severe attack of measles.

Inspector Boyce, of Red Deer, was inspecting schools in this vicinity this week.

Mothers' Day was observed in the Rainy Creek Church last Sunday by special exercises.

We understand that Mr. Jim McKee shot a brown bear at his place last week.

Mr. Wyatt, who purchased the Edward McShane estate last fall, has arrived with his family from Eastern Canada and taken up residence on the Geo. Gurrles place for the present.

The Ladies' Aid of the Rainy Creek Church are justly proud of the new organ which they have had installed in the church.

BLACKFALDS

Mr. Webster, superintendent of the C.N.R., left for the Mountain House last Thursday.

We expect to have a big turnout on Victoria Day. Good prizes are being offered for the races, etc.

Owing to the congestion of freight at Calgary and Red Deer the engines that are hauling the gravel trains have been sent to those two points.

Mr. Warren was up from Calgary last week.

A butcher shop is badly needed here.

Travel was again very heavy to and from the Mountain House last week.

Mr. Aylward informs us that they are starting a polo club in Lacombe. Anyone desirous of joining the same, kindly apply to Mr. Aylward, who will only be too pleased to give information.

Starting this week the C.N.R. will run two regular trains to the Mountain House, leaving here at 1:30 Tuesdays and Fridays.

The C.P.R. are putting in a cinder walk from the station to the town sidewalk.

Mr. Ballard, from Langdon, was up last week with the view of buying an improved farm. He seemed well pleased with this part of the country.

The boys are practising baseball hard for the 24th.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Young left on Monday evening for Victoria, B.C., where they will reside for the present. Mr. Young has for many years had charge of the grocery department of A. Urquhart & Co., and has made many friends in Lacombe. His removal to the Coast was necessitated by the ill health of his son, who is being treated by the Forsters, of which order he was a prominent member, presented him with a handsome jewel.

The many friends of Mr. Frank Kenaville, for some time wine clerk at the Empress Hotel, will be grieved to learn of his sudden death at Spokane last week. Although not in the best of health for some time past, he was out of any rest of a month or so would bring him back to his usual health, but on arrival at Spokane he was stricken with a paralytic stroke, from which he succumbed. Mr. D. Lockman accompanied him to Spokane and remained for the funeral, returning to Lacombe later in the week.

William Burris, Esq., postmaster of Lacombe, today sold to William Kerber, Esq., of Lacombe, the N.W. quarter of Sec. 28-40-26 W. 4th M., at a good price. This is Mr. Burris' old homestead and is a most desirable property one and a half miles from town. The purchase of this property will give Mr. Kerber the opportunity of extending his already large farming operations, as he owns the adjoining quarter section. Mr. Kerber came here a year ago from Emmsburg, Iowa, and is now one of the most prosperous farmers in the district. The sale was made by F. Vickerson, financial agent of this town.

SPENCER ELECTED.

At a late hour Saturday night the judicial recount of the ballots cast in Medicine Hat constituency in the recent election was completed, and Judge Carpenter announced Mayor Spencer elected mayor Hon. C. K. Mitchell by 20 majority.

FIREMEN'S SPORTS.

Everything is now in good shape for the firemen's sports on Saturday, May 24 (Victoria Day), and it looks as if the celebration will be the best ever held in Lacombe. Baseball clubs from several outside points are coming to the tournament; three football teams are entering in that competition and the local horsemen are getting their runners in shape. The athletic events will be keenly contested. Large crowds are coming in from the east line points, although so far it has not been found possible to get a special train for the day. The business places in Lacombe will be closed on Saturday, and from the present outlook there will be a record attendance at the grounds.

SHOW DAY ALMOST HERE.

If you miss the small boy of the family at breakfast June 3rd, don't be alarmed, as it will be safe to conjecture that he is at the Lacombe show lot watching the Barnes' circus set up. It is one of the far-away memories of the grown-ups, the boy who 10 days when we watched the 3rd wagons pull up on the lot, the horse and dining rooms, the parade to leave the lot, and the bustle of getting ready for the show. Many of us have not outgrown the habit yet. Promptly at ten o'clock the bugle will sound the call for the parade to leave the lot, and the principal down-town streets will be traversed. At one p.m. the doors will be opened for the afternoon show, which starts an hour later. The night show opens at seven, and the parade starts at 8.15. The press starts a program lasting two hours, with three rings and steel arenas in constant operation. The entire performance is given by animals, over 350 in number, in three rings, steel arenas and on elevated stages. Herds of elephants, camels, zebras, zulus, India sacred cattle and oxen from Africa; thirty monster lions, tigers, leopards, panthers, snakes, jaguars, hyenas, under the direction of famous European male and female trainers; 150 High School horses, Shetland ponies, dogs, apes, goats, monkeys, bears and a host of other unusual features. These are a few of the feature acts that take place in the arena, while the rings are occupied with less less entertaining but far less dangerous acts.

Both acts and group of 25 full-grown forest-bred male African lions conclude the performance.

CANADA IS PROSPEROUS.

Honorable W. T. White's budget speech, delivered in the House of Commons on Monday, contained several surprises. The biggest surprise was that, in spite of the financial outlook, which is gloomy throughout the last five or six months of the financial year ending with the 31st March, Canada did the largest trade in its history—a record of over a billion and eighty-five million dollars.

The second surprise was conveyed in the announcement of the surplus for the year of fifty-five million dollars. It was also, no doubt, surprising to many of our protective government should announce, as the Minister of Finance announced, reductions in the tariff on certain lines of importations and the total abolition of duty on some very important articles.

It is highly gratifying to the Canadian people to learn that Canadian trade has at last exceeded the enormous sum of one billion dollars a year. To be sure, there are economists who will deeply deplore the fact that our imports greatly exceed our exports—the budget speech made it clear that the balance of trade with the world is decidedly against us. It is a fact, however, that a country that is developing at the rate at which Canada is developing should suffer precisely such a condition of affairs. It should also be remembered that while we are spending on foreign goods a vastly larger sum than foreign nations are spending on our goods, we are getting in hundreds of thousands of immigrants, many of whom are bringing with them, and who quite naturally spend a lot of it on imported goods, with which they are familiar, during the first few years of their residence in Canada. The expenditure of this money should be taken into consideration in estimating the balance of trade. Mr. White states that the immigration last year was at the rate of one hundred and thirty thousand a day, and that of these were, some, those from the United States alone brought in one hundred and forty million.

The tariff reductions announced by Mr. White are, in fact, gratifying to Canada generally. There is to be a substantial reduction in the duty on cement—which reduction was found to be possible by the successful closing of the cement industry's reduction of a year ago. The reduction in the duty on sugar—which will cut six hundred thousand dollars a year from the taxes, should mean a corresponding saving to the consumers of this country, unless the Sugar Trust should decide otherwise and be able to give effect to its decision. Western farmers have every reason to be pleased with the placing of ditch-digging machines on the free list, as this will mean a saving of five or six hundred dollars on each machine. Newspaper and printers, however, from one end of Canada to the other, have the greatest cause for satisfaction. Type-setting and type-casting machines are at last to go on the free list. For several years these machines have not been made in Canada. In fact, no satisfactory machine of this kind ever was made in Canada. Yet, in spite of these facts, printers and publishers of the Dominion have had to pay six or seven hundred dollars duty on these machines bought—evidently for the purpose of "protecting" an interest that did not exist. In other countries, the printers and publishers of Canada have been fixed six or seven hundred dollars for each machine that they have bought—machines that they absolutely had to have to force their work to business.

The Government has made a good start in cutting the duty mentioned absurdity—the duty on type-setting machinery—out of the tariff. It has many more absurdities to eliminate, however, before the tariff will be in such condition as will meet with the approval of any sane man. We have been promised a tariff revision in a scientific manner. We should have had that commission before now, had it not been for the insane spite of a senile Senate, which last year caused the people serious inconvenience and annoyance in order that it might temporarily embarrass the Borden Government. It would be tedious and unnecessary to go into details concerning some of the absurdities of our present tariff. There are scores of them from one end of the dutiable list to the other. Permit me to mention only one, which is of peculiar interest to newspapers and their readers. Everyone knows that a photograph of any person or any building must be taken wherever that person, building or scene may be. Consequently, the photograph of a flood in Ohio must be taken in Ohio. A photograph of the inauguration of President Wilson, or of any other president can be taken only at Washington. A photograph of the march of the suffragettes from New York to Albany can be taken only at New York, at Albany, or at some point along the line of march. Canadian publications of enterprise, must buy these photographs from United States photographers. But when these photographs are mailed into Canada, they are held up in the customs and a duty of 22½ per cent. is collected on them. If anyone can show me anything more insane than such a duty, I should greatly like to see it. Heaven knows Canadian newspapers and periodicals are poor enough as it is, without being discouraged out of giving their readers as bright and interesting sheets as they can get by being put on the free list, then I should say by all means retain the duty. But when goods are made dutiable, the so-called "protective" tariff is merely a fine without reason and without justice. Indeed, when one reads Mr. White's budget speech carefully and sees that enormous surplus of fifty-five million dollars rolled up, one is forced to the conclusion that very considerable reductions in the tariff might be made pretty nearly all along the line, in order that the administration of Canada's affairs should not continue to be for the purpose of money-making. It is all very well to talk of reducing the national debt, but a young country like Canada, which is experiencing unprecedented development, should not try to decrease its national debt by so much as a farthing. It is about time for us to devote our attention to keeping our revenue down to our own necessities, then an unnecessary tax of fifty-five million dollars per annum should not have to be carried solely by the generation which is making Canada a great nation of enormous wealth.

MRS. W. E. EVANS

Equal Heat In Every Part of The Gurney-Oxford Oven

Every woman well knows the bad results from constantly opening the oven door to move a cake to another shelf or turn a pan of biscuits. Often the shifting or the cold air striking in proves utterly disastrous to her baking.

The Divided Flue on the Gurney-Oxford range equally distributes the heat to all parts of the oven which is regulated to the exact temperature required by means of the Economizer.

This wonderful, time-labor-and-money-saving device controls the heat of the whole range.

It is worked by a small handle which moves around a series of six notches. The housewife soon learns that by moving the handle to No. 1 she has a very hot oven, to No. 3 a moderate oven, and that No. 6 checks the fire so as to burn scarcely any coal while she goes out shopping. On her return she simply moves the handle to the number that gives the required heat and the result is prompt.

Of inestimable value also is the Drier Attachment and the Special Grate.

But a most delightful feature about the Gurney-Oxford is its constant bright and shining appearance.

It has a smooth polished top that never requires black lead and is thoroughly sanitary.

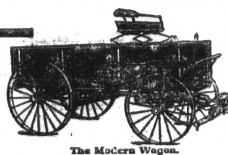

For years stove experts have been working out woman's problem in the kitchen and the Gurney-Oxford range is the solution.

Steel Wheels Steel Gears

You know the advantages steel construction has over wooden construction. You wouldn't even think of buying a wooden frame cultivator.

Why then a wagon of wood? Everyone realizes that the steel wagon will soon be the only wagon used.

The DAVENPORT ROLLER-BEARING STEEL FARM WAGON

Is Built Like a Bridge

Constructed of I-beams, channels and angles, solidly riveted together with large steel rivets, put in hot. The gear parts and the wheels are trussed and braced like the modern steel railway bridge, built for the heaviest lifetime service. In the Davenport you have a wagon of 6000 pounds capacity, stronger and more durable and of lighter draft than any other wagon of equal capacity.

The Modern Bridge.

The WHEELS of steel, with strong round spokes, forged solidly into the hubs and hot riveted into the tires, do away with the rattling of tires, loose spokes and cracked felloes.

Roller-Bearings Reduce the Draft 30% to 50%

Last a Lifetime

No Repair Bills to Pay

You know the difference between dragging a thing and rolling it. Well, the roller-bearings have this advantage on the Davenport.

Summerfalling In the Balance

Like a great many western farmers, I came from a district where summer-fallowing was unnecessary. When I first heard of the process I had the idea that it was done in some places because the land was too poor to raise a crop every year and had to be rested. I believe that is the idea many people have when they first hear of it, and know very little about it.

Then the idea that a country where they have to summer fallow has something radically wrong with it was strengthened by hearing an eminent authority on agriculture say something to that effect. I do not recall his statement, but I know it gave me the impression that such a country was not to be depended upon. Later on I learned that summer fallowing was necessary in the exclusive grain-growing districts of the Canadian west, in order to kill weeds and to conserve moisture for the following crop. It was not, however, until I had been farming for a time in Southern Saskatchewan that the real reason for summer fallowing came to me, and it is the feeling that many people have a misconception about it that has prompted me to write this article.

I do not pretend to be well read in agricultural literature, but I believe I am correct in saying that in most of the arguments for summer fallowing, which appear in agricultural journals and elsewhere, the two reasons mentioned above, viz., killing weeds and conserving moisture, are practically the only ones advanced. There can be no doubt that summer fallowing will accomplish these results if properly done, and perhaps in many cases the results justify the process, but it seems to me that as farming is conducted in the west at the present time these are neither the chief reasons for the procedure nor should they be so considered. I am convinced that in Southern Saskatchewan and generally throughout the west, a large number of those farmers who do summer fallowing do so not to kill weeds and conserve moisture, but principally to conserve labor.

Anyone who is at all familiar with conditions in the prairie provinces knows that as soon as the surface of the ground is dry in the spring there is a desperate rush to get the grain in and a continued hurry to spring plow as much land as possible and seed it before it is too late. Between the close of seeding and the beginning of harvest there is a period of nearly three months during which if there were no summer fallowing or breaking to do, the men and teams would be idle. Summer fallowing fits in very nicely to make a scheme of steady work. What is more important, however, with most farmers, it is practically the only time that they are assured of an opportunity to plow the ground. Owing to the shortness of the season and the spring rush, relatively little spring plowing is done, and owing to the scarcity and high price of harvest and threshing labor very little fall plowing is done.

How, then, can a man get his land plowed if he does not summer fallow? The only way is to have an excess of men and power over the land required for the seeding or threshing only, an excess great enough to fall or spring it all. Such an outlay, however, in view of the fact that the equipment would be idle during the summer months, seems unwise to many, so what they actually do is to fall plow if they can, spring plow as much as possible and summer fallow the rest.

On the other hand, if one does not have equipment enough to spring or fall plow all the land that should be plowed and is forced to summer fallow, he gains, something in the weeds and moisture line, but gets no crop off the land and loses the interest.

Ignoring for the time being the weeds and moisture proposition, the farmer who considers a policy of summer fallowing has two propositions in the balance. On the one hand, is summer fallowing with a crop on part of the land, on the other hand, all the land in crop with idle power during the summer. The question now arises: On which side is the greater loss? It is a difficult question to answer because there are so many factors concerned and one should possess a lot of data before passing final judgment. I have said in my opinion it depends chiefly on the price of land, and I feel safe in prophesying that as western lands increase in value, as of course they are absolutely sure to do, the business farmer who sticks to exclusive grain growing will gradually quit summer fallowing. He will do this simply because it will be cheaper for him to let his equipment stand idle during the summer months than to miss the chance of a crop on say one-third of his land, and he will find some other solution for the question of weeds and moisture. It is quite evident, however, that a system which will pay in actual crop returns when land becomes worth $100 per acre will pay just as well right now on land worth $30. There is the difference that the loss then will be more evident, though none the less real, because it will seem to appear in terms of interest.

Summer fallowing is certainly the only way that weeds can be killed. I am inclined to believe that the weed problem of Western Canada can in many cases be mastered without summer fallowing by sowing oats or barley in April.

With regard to the moisture, I have noted some interesting conditions in Southern Saskatchewan during the past few years. In 1910 the last rain fell in June, and by winter the land was all so dry that it is doubtful whether the summer fallow preserved any appreciable moisture. There was a lot of snow the following winter, and the season of 1911 was very wet all through. Land that was fall plowed in 1911 had lots of moisture, and so far as conserving moisture was concerned the summer fallow of 1910 was not worth the whistle. The season of 1912 again was abundantly wet, with the exception of two weeks around the first of July. Land plowed the fall of 1911 or spring of 1912 would have been just about as well off with regard to moisture as the land summer fallowed in 1911. The point is that I personally have not yet seen the virtue of summer fallowing from the standpoint of conserving moisture. However, I am not acquainted with actual experimental records and do not assert that summer fallowing, if properly done, will not conserve moisture. It is well to remember that in the long run, to lose one crop every third year is no worse than to lose one-third of the crop every year.

Sometimes it is pretty hard to connect cause and effect, and it is possible that in a large number of cases where a summer fallow crop is ahead of the fall of spring plowing crops the real cause is not more moisture but better tillage, and a better packed seed bed. Let me say here that if I were to name the second most important reason for summer fallowing I would say that it is the production of good tillage, made necessary by the process of killing weeds, but of sufficient importance to be a vital reason in itself.

I certainly would not advise anyone to quit summer fallowing unless he has lots of equipment, and probably even so he should not quit entirely, but I do deplore the fact that there seems to be a lot of misunderstanding as to why it should be done at all. I recall a farmer friend of mine who in conversation said that he generally summer fallowed one-third of his land every year and he went on to explain that he did it to kill weeds and conserve moisture, that being the scientific system of farming. I could not help being amused, for I knew that he had not equipment enough to do other than summer fallow a good deal, and he it was he needed spring plowing until it was really too late. I don't believe that he realized that to conserve labor is every bit as scientific as to conserve moisture. It certainly is a sort of conservation that is mighty significant in western farm practices at the present time.—F. G. Allison.

"I ATTRIBUTE MY CURE SOLELY

And Entirely To Taking "Fruit-a-tives"

Winnipeg, Ont., Dec. 24th, 1909
"For the past twelve years, I had painful attacks of Dyspepsia. I could not digest any food and everything caused the most agonizing pain in my stomach. I also had a fearful attack of Constipation and at times I had no movement of the bowels for two weeks. Three doctors attended me for two years and gave me all kinds of medicine but did me no good. My weight came to only 85 pounds and everyone thought I was going to die. Finally, I had the good fortune to try 'Fruit-a-tives' and as soon as I began to take them, I felt better. I persisted in the treatment and to my great joy, I steadily improved. Now I feel very well, weigh 115 pounds, and this is more than I ever weighed even before my illness. I attribute my cure solely and entirely to 'Fruit-a-tives' and can never praise them too much for saving my life. To all who suffer from Dyspepsia and Constipation, I recommend 'Fruit-a-tives' as a marvelous medicine."

Another Treaty Claim

No man liveth to himself. The sooner every man learns that he lives for the good—or harm—of mankind the better, for only in serving mankind can he himself be happy, however much he may seek to be happy in other ways. This is a question that is now forcing itself upon nations. Must each nation assert its own selfish interests as the chief end of its life, or must each account itself one of the community and realize that in best serving all men it is best serving itself—that the more it benefits others the more it will itself be benefited. The nations of Europe have learned more and more to realize that they are a group that must in all things consider each other. Those of this continent have been able to live so care-free of other people's that they have come to regard any claim put in by other people as an imperious demand to be met, and at once to arouse war talk. This is a crude condition which can only exist in determined isolation, and which the increasing intercourse that is blending the world into one community must make less and less tenable.

Great Britain is once more making a claim on the United States on the ground of a right secured by a treaty. Of all countries the United States has most sought to keep from binding herself to treaties, and the moment she feels the pull of any treaty into which she has entered, she resents the bondage as an interference with her right to govern her own territory and people, in her people's own way. Even in these days of good comradeship there is more or less strain over making claims on the ground of a treaty. The new case is the section of the Underwood tariff that gives a lower rate of duty on goods imported in the United States bottoms than on goods imported in foreign ships. This is a method of protecting home shipping, and is, but for treaty obligations, quite as much with in the power of Congress as any protective duty. It is altogether of a piece with the Republican policy of protection, but it is, it must be confessed, a little strange to find in a Democratic tariff for revenue measure a clause which would raise all the duties which the bill cuts down, and give the proceeds to the shipbuilding ring.

The tariff makers of the Democratic party who have in their free list far outrun their slogan of "tariff for revenue only," cannot set for the soundness of this feature. Practically the same line of reasoning applies to the Panama Canal Act, which was similarly devised to foster United States shipping. Apart from treaty obligations, a Republican administration would have had at least some consistency in defending these measures in themselves, but a Democratic government would, in doing so, be contravening its own creed. The United States cannot set up the plea that the honor of the nation is at stake. It certainly is at stake, but it can only be vindicated by acknowledging in its fulness the treaty right of Great Britain. The United States may have the most progressive and prosperous merchant marine on the sea. She slew it with her own hand by making the cost of everything artificially dear. If she wants to have the lead again, she can easily do so, she can do it by simply removing all restrictions from her commerce and making her very productive country as cheap as any to live in.

ORGANIZE, GRIN AND ADVERTISE

Winnipeg Free Press.

The slogan of the young towns of the Canadian West should be organized, opinion and effective publicity, coupled with a true understanding of the principles of advertising. To make the world familiar with their advantages through a scheme of advertising standardized by men who have been chosen as their life-work the evolving of the complex elements of progress on the highest plane of efficiency should be their studied purpose. It is only as a broad, clear, definite, honest campaign of publicity is carried on that these young towns can hope to achieve the full measure of progress they are entitled to.

When the growth and development of Western Canada during the past four or five years is reviewed, one cannot help but be impressed with the wonderful strides made by the cities and towns. While it is indeed an interesting occupation to watch these communities add thousands of people to their population each year, to note their building permits, bank clearings, customs returns and other thermometers of business show almost unbelievable increases, the most impressive evidences of scientific city building are found in some of the smaller and newer towns throughout the west. Advertising has been the mainspring of their progress.

Cities such as Winnipeg,
 Brandon, Regina, Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton and Lethbridge have been clearly defined as the leading commercial centres of large areas. There can be no question as to their future, and little fear that they will be routed out of their supreme positions. The growth of their tributary territory will compel them to expand, and it is merely a question of good, progressive civic government to keep such cities up to date.

In the smaller towns it is different. Their future is yet to be made. There are additional railroad lines, industries, distributing houses and financial concerns to secure before they can become cities with an assured future and, in most cases, there is a neighboring town with possibly identical advantages strongly competing for supremacy.

In these smaller towns or trade centres, townspeople must be not only progressive but aggressive. They must be represented by men who are real city builders; men capable of securing what they go after.

It is true there are certain fundamental advantages that are necessary for any town to have before it can hope to become a city. A rich surrounding country, a favorable location for railroad construction, a reasonable distance for large trade centres, and a congenial climate are necessary. However, many a town has enjoyed these natural advantages and has remained almost at a standstill while a neighboring town which has not been nearly so well favored has been making rapid strides of progress.
 Unless natural advantages are coupled with intelligent and progressive and up-to-date government, they lose most of their potency. Places less favored by nature will go ahead of them by vigilantly applying the most effective elements of progress.

One of the most important factors in the development of these small trade centres is publicity advertising. This statement is based upon knowledge of the development of several towns throughout the west. I have in mind one town in particular. It was ideally located and stood in line for considerable development. It had been existing for years merely as an average prosperous country town without any marked advancement. The older people in the town seemed quite content with their existence, and made no effort to share in the great prosperity of the west. Fortunately there were a few live men in the town, and after considerable effort on the part of these few, a board of trade was organized. Sufficient money was raised for the purpose of securing a live publicity and industrial commissioner, and for the carrying on of a medium-sized advertising campaign. In less than three months that town was one of the most talked of in Canada. Its population doubled in less than a year; real-estate values doubled and tripled almost every night. Work was given to hundreds of men and business houses experienced undreamed of prosperity.

In two years time that town has become a thriving city. It has secured additional railway lines, many industries, several large distributing houses, and more branches of the leading financial institutions of the country. It is growing rapidly, and nothing can stop it now from being a leading commercial centre. Advertising did it.

 The natural advantages were always there, but they were unknown until knowledge of them was spread throughout the country by advertising.

The adoption of an aggressive advertising propaganda by a town works to advantage in several ways. Its chief duty, of course, is to make known the advantages of the town and district, and thereby secure sellers, industries, etc. Incidentally, it creates a spirit of progress and activity among the townspeople to make money through the increased value of real estate.

Every person residing in a town that is adapted for the building of a city should encourage the organization of an active board of trade, the securing of a live publicity or industrial commissioner, and the carrying out of an aggressive and intelligent advertising campaign. The cost is not prohibitive—in fact, is nothing when results are taken into consideration. A good commissioner can be secured for $2,500 or so per year. Two thousand per year properly spent will secure a large amount of publicity. Allowing $1,000 for travelling and other office expenses, we have a total yearly expenditure of $5,000. This is certainly not a large sum to be raised, and such an expenditure will prove a profitable investment not only for the town, but for everyone who had faith in its future.

The town which carries on a constructive campaign of reliable publicity through an energetic commissioner will feel the vital impulse of progress everyday. But haphazard, half-hearted advertising never has paid, and never will pay. Bear that in mind. An advertising campaign, to be successful, must be planned with as much strategy and experience as a great general would plan a campaign of invasion.

It would surprise you to know of the great good that is being done by Chamberlain's Tablets. Darius Downey, of Newburg Junction, N. B., writes berlain's Tablets and finds them very effective and doing her lots of good." If you have

Canada's Budget

All the credit which the unbounded development and prosperity of a country can reflect upon the government of the day can be justly claimed by the Borden administration. Even to close followers of national affairs the budget brought down by Mr. White on Monday is surprisingly gratifying and illuminating. A surplus of fifty-six millions in a single year is unequivocating evidence of the healthy progress which Canada is making under a Conservative administration.

The gigantic figures quoted by Mr. White in his detailed statement on revenue and expenditure are the most striking feature of his pronouncement. In the past fiscal year the gross revenue was $136,837,407. The expenditures aggregated $98,- 890,641, leaving an ordinary surplus for the year of $37,946,- 776. During 1913-14 it is estimated that the total revenue will reach $168,250,000, and the expenditures $113,250,000. The estimated surplus for the present year is set at $55,000,000.
 With this sum it will be possible to pay $33,000,000 on special expenditures chargeable to capital account, to make a reduction of $23,000,000 in the national debt and to provide $1,300,000 for sinking fund purposes.

Changes in the tariff which Mr. White announced will completely affect either commerce or manufacture. Most of the alterations were necessitated by recently consummated treaties.
 Slight reductions in sugar tar-ifs will no doubt affect the trade to a very minor degree that will not be noticeable to the consumer.
 Perhaps the most important reduction is that of approximately twenty per cent. on cement.
 During his address the Minister of Finance gave it as his opinion that building conditions would be improved this year and that there would be no necessity of suspending duty on cement during the season.

From the trade statistics which reflect unprecedented prosperity, Mr. White concluded that no general reconstruction of tariffs was advisable at this season.

THE VALUE OF IMMIGRANTS

The latest government report puts an estimate of $1,000 on the capital brought by every immigrant from the United States into Canada. The average-sized family, as shown in the immigration statistics, numbers five, showing that the average family coming from south of the boundary line brings to Canada approximately five thousand dollars. The total number of immigrants entering Canada from the United States last year was 140,000.
 Estimating on the basis of one thousand dollars per head the wealth of Canada was augmented by $140,000,000 by settlers from the south in a single year.

These facts surely give strong justification for the very progressive campaign for immigrants that is being carried through the agencies of the Dominion Government and also through the independent efforts of several large transportation companies. The rank and file of immigration from Great Britain and Europe may not bring as much money with it as do our friends from the south, but they enter with the same enthusiasm into the new life in a new country, and in the end are just as valuable to the Dominion at large.

 Jack Johnson, champion found guilty of violating the federal white slave law in transporting Belle Schriber from Pittsburgh to Chicago in 1910.

 He was convicted on all seven counts in the indictment. The jury returned its verdict after an hour's consideration.
 "If you should find this defendant not guilty, knowing as you do the evidence in the case," said assistant district attorney Harry Parkin, "I do not see how any of you can go home and look squarely into the faces of those you respect and admire."

Attorney Badh for the defense maintained that the general record and behavior of the negro was not to be considered by the jury.

"If he sent her money to come to Chicago for immoral purposes, he is guilty," he said.
 "That is the only thing to be considered by the jury."
 The maximum penalty under the finding is five years' imprisonment or $18,000 fine, or both.
 The suggestion of Johnson's "golden smile" which had been on his lips during the time of the jury's deliberations faded when the clerk pronounced the word guilty. Johnson sat solemnly in his seat until Attorney Parkin's motion that the lighter be taken into custody was denied, where he stopped quietly from his seat and made his way from the court room alone.

"I have nothing to say," he said, "my attorney will speak

D. CAMERON, Agent Lacombe

LACOMBE AS A RAILWAY CENTER

After considerable time and labor spent on it, Geo. Holton has completed a map of the Lacombe district, showing (1) existing railroads, (2) railroads under construction or assured in the near future, and (3) railroads that are practically sure, though no work has yet been done on them. To a person who has paid no attention to the subject in the past, but has taken it for granted that Lacombe will not be of any special importance as a railroad centre, a glance at this map will likely suggest the idea that Mr. Holton has been dreaming his dreams. The subject is one that has caused some ridicule in the past, and many who would consider it an everlasting disgrace to let it be known that they expected more than they received, have loudly laughed at those who have stoutly declared that the railroads were coming. Well, they laugh best who laugh last, and those who have all the time that we would not get the roads had better laugh loud and long now, for the other fellows will be doing the laughing after a time.

Some towns have secured railroads because men in the town with energy and optimism have gone after them and worked until the roads were built. Other towns have roads because nature had settled the question of where the roads should go. While we would give full honor to those who have worked for railroads for Lacombe, still we must acknowledge that our natural position and resources have counted much in bringing us roads. When the original line was built through what was to be Lacombe, it came here simply because it was on the most convenient course between Calgary and Edmonton. Over fifteen years ago the C. P. R. management picked out Lacombe as "one" of the natural railway centres of the west and decided to build their east and west line through it. It was some time before we saw the graders, but they came at last and for years we have had train service to the east. The next few months will complete another stage, and the branch will become a main line, having its eastern terminus at Moose Jaw. Another branch will give us direct connection with Saskatoon. The C. P. R. is building a new line through the mountains to the west, and have decided to connect Lacombe with it. This will mean that a considerable portion of the traffic between British Columbia and the prairie provinces will pass through Lacombe. And now comes the announcement from that company that they are about to build a line from Bassano to Lacombe. It is true that it will come into the town over the present track, but it is definitely stated that Lacombe will be the terminus on the line. This means that from the C. P. R. we will have lines running north, south, east and west, the line to the east dividing into three, each leading to an important point, and giving further connections.

The C. N. R. is not blind to the situation. Already they have their line east and west built, passing just south of the town. A couple of weeks will see their construction gangs building their north and south line through the town, giving us direct connection to the four points of the compass. It is not simply that lines run into or out of our town, but the points to which they run that makes the matter important.

It has been rumored for some time that the G. T. P. was planning an entrance to Lacombe. Now comes the announcement that they have arranged with the C. P. R. for running rights over the latter's tracks from Alx to Lacombe, and will build their own tracks from here west.

It is not necessary to say much about the electric line, as it will be a local line. Those behind it say that it will be built very soon, and it will mean a great deal as a local feeder.

What we wish especially to call attention to is that the lines assured to us will give Lacombe direct connection with every source of supply, and every market. We will be within easy reach of almost unlimited coal fields to the west. We will be directly connected with all important points to the south, east and north. This will be one of the most convenient distributing points in the country. We have undoubtedly the best and best developed, mixed farm districts in the country. It means that we have very special inducement for distributing means. The cost of living in the cities is becoming almost prohibitive. Lacombe can offer a home with comparatively cheap living. Here is a great opportunity. Nature has done the deal for Lacombe. It is up to the town to add to what nature and the railroads have done, and get busy along this line.

And if Lacombe gets the distributing houses will it end there. The distributing house is usually the forerunner of the factory. It is practicable to make Lacombe a manufacturing centre. One or two intermediate steps are necessary, and while taking these we should be preparing for the final step. For manufacturing cheap power is needed. This power comes from three sources—water, coal and gas.

Lacombe is not specially favored as to coal, but with several lines to the west in operation, our position will be much improved. To the west of us, and not so far away are tremendous water powers. These will soon be developed. It should be done by the government. This power, in the form of electricity, will be wired to all the towns in this part of the country. It will make available for Lacombe the best and cheapest power in existence, unless it be natural gas. This cheap and valuable power is now in use in many parts of the province, and will soon be available in all parts. Lacombe, in common with other towns in Alberta, should have a supply of gas inside of three years. This will mean that all towns, Lacombe included, will have cheap power. Factories are about to be established in the west in large numbers. It would not be wise to get excited and dream wild dreams, but it is wise to be wide-awake and look out for ourselves.

A Futile Recourse

The New York State Legislature has completed another session without doing anything to advance the enactment of the one law that the people of the State have been most interested in. At party convention after party convention, the question around which discussion has raged most hotly is that of direct nomination. The Republicans put it in their platform, and then the Progressives incorporated it in theirs, and finally the Democrats also adopted it, realizing it to be the most popular issue before the people. All attempts in the legislature to fulfill party promises by enacting it have proved futile, but never has the people's hope run away from them. This last session of a Democratic legislature under Governor Sulzer. Not but that the people knew that the party machine bosses, Murphy and Barnes, would do their best to have it defeated, but they had the feeling that their representatives would not dare longer oppose such a strong drift of public opinion as had become evident.

Governor Sulzer saw with the people in this, and exerted his influence he could on the legislature, even going to the extent of warning them that if they did not pass it, he would take the stump after the manner of Governor Hughes, and do what he could to stir the electorate to resent their inaction. Until the people of the State succeed in getting direct primaries, they do not account themselves free electors. At the present time the majority of the candidates of one party are nominated by Mr. Barnes and his group of political followers, while the candidates for the other party are nominated by Mr. Murphy and his group of political supporters. All this the people can do is to choose in each constituency, by their ballots, between the Murphy man and the Barnes man. When, however, they have thus chosen, and then representatives meet in legislative session at Albany, Mr. Barnes and Mr. Murphy assume the entire control. Were this control to be antagonistic, one faction fighting against the other, the interests of the people would have some chance. Such, however, is not the case. Mr. Barnes and Mr. Murphy are in close agreement on all matters that concern their power, to perpetuate their leadership, and to keep the stream of the State taxes flowing into the pockets of their henchmen. It is to protect their power of nomination that they have combined during the last session to defeat the bill for direct primaries.

Direct primaries seem to us rather an absurd way of achieving the object they seek, a free choice by the people of each party of the candidates that will stand to represent them on election day. The direct primary means a double election. The idea makes nomination day just as truly and officially an election day as is the regular election. In the United States each voter is enrolled on the voting lists as being a Democrat, a Republican, a Progressive or a Socialist. On nomination day the plan is to have all those enrolled as Republicans permitted to vote for their choice of a Republican candidate, while all those who are enrolled as Democrats will vote to select a Democratic candidate. The Socialists and Progressives will do the same. Then on election day the several men elected on primary day as candidates will run against each other for office. It would be very much simpler, as well as more just, to adopt a system of proportional representation, giving representation to every minority, and leaving the people free to vote for any candidate they should choose. So certain was the New York World, a Democratic paper, which has never broken away from its allegiance, that the situation as it at present exists is hopeless, that it has come out with the declaration that nothing but a third party can now save the State. That it has taken this stand with Mr. Roosevelt, the man whom it dislikes and distrusts more than any other, except possibly Mr.

Murphy, at present in control of a fairly strong third party, is evidence that it finds the situation desperate.

The employees of A. Urquhart & Co., Ltd., presented Mr. Harold A. Young with a handsome gold ring with his initials engraved thereon, just before his departure for British Columbia, together with the following address: May 15th, 1913.

To Mr. Harold A. Young: It was with regret we, the employees of A. Urquhart & Co., Ltd., heard of your intention of severing the pleasant relations which have existed between us for several years past. You, as a junior member of the firm, have always given us that discipline, instruction and advice which could only emanate from a gentleman.

We will not burden you with a superfluity of words, but will say we are sorry to lose you, and we hope for your material welfare in a greater degree wherever you locate, and we trust it will be in a place more conducive to your wife's health, which we understand is the main reason for removing from this climate.

We cannot allow the occasion to pass without showing our appreciation in some way. Please accept this ring as a token of our respect and esteem. It will always be a reminder of our attitude toward you.

During the past few weeks movements have been started that promise to bring a number of people to this part of Alberta.

Old Country News

Mr. A. Urquhart is back from his trip to the Old Country.

Interviewed by the "Globe," Mr. Urquhart reports many changes in the people and places of his former acquaintances, twenty years ago. But overshadowing all others in interest, is the great change in the moral and political atmosphere of the country as a whole. One feels it everywhere. The old conservatism is dumb, as if ashamed of pleas and arguments that were once respectable. The young conservatism is driven back to the study of new principles for their faith that will bear examination. It is no longer a question of Conservatives and Liberals; it is a question of different kinds of Socialism.

The unprecedented emigration from an early date to the universal unrest, but it is so large that it also amounts to a revolt of the people against the unequal conditions. The capacities of even British shipping and goods cannot accommodate all those who wish to emigrate. Over 3,000 people leave Glasgow every week. The ports of Liverpool, Southampton, Queenstown and Londonderry must bring the total up to about 15,000 or 20,000. Were there steamers enough, these figures would be much larger. Most of the emigration from Scotland is to Canada, and thousands are waiting for steamers to take them away.

But everyone admits that the desire for larger opportunities must be satisfied at home. The upper classes acknowledge it, and give socialistic legislation their moral support, though privately they remain in the background.

The suffragettes. Yes, everyone asks about the suffragettes. They are going to win, undoubtedly. No military or naval force can suppress them. Their demand for votes would receive no attention if the powers that be were not made uncomfortable. It has been the way of British governments to listen politely to arguments and postpone reforms till tomorrow. You have to throw them up, in fact, before they realize it is not a picnic. One can hardly mention a great reform obtained, the demand for which was not backed by violence and outrage. Votes for women a good thing? It is said that men, legislators, think in terms of rents, stocks, dividends, profits and material comforts; that women, on the other hand, have a juster sympathy, go more directly to the work to be done, and have less regard for material considerations. It is certainly for speeding reforms that they want the vote. It is assumed that the male is more easily bribed, and the women are to be called upon to remedy the causes of the enormous emigration and dangerous unrest. Henry George's works are among their political text books, and single tax is the motto of the great aimed at.

Yes, the churches are waking up. There are several of them, and not so long ago they were at war among themselves. The iniquities of one was often the text of the sermon preached in the other. But they woke up to the fact that their hands were running low, and public support slackening. Now they have become friends in fact, a common danger. They have committees sitting in something like permanent session, discussing union. I visited two of my old companions who are now ministers of large congregations, and they were outspoken in their advocacy of the suffragettes and socialistic legislation. To take up any other position seems untenable in the atmosphere of this old land these days.

Canada's contribution to the navy? They speak proudly of the proposal of Canada's help. They take almost no note of the quarrel of our parties over the matter. They are intensely busy and somewhat, but greatly interested in Canada, where they think their friends are doing so well. As one expressed it to me: "What a country; a young man goes there, he loses his identity completely, and there is nothing too small or too large for him to tackle."
